

Name _____ Office _____ Date _____

QUIZ

Comprehensive Relative Identification and Exploration

1. If a relative is unable/unwilling to be a placement for the child, they may contribute by:
  - a. Visiting the child
  - b. Transporting the child or other family member
  - c. Helping to meet one of the child's specific needs
  - d. All of the above

2. According to the draft Decisive Factors presented today, a quality Relative Resources narrative includes:
  - a. Explicit criminal and MACWIS history, if it exists
  - b. Family stories about the children
  - c. What the family member can do to support with the child
  - d. A chronology of all the various living arrangements the child has experienced

3. What priority is given to relatives in the statute?
  - a. It is mandatory that relatives receive relevant information from the child's record, if they are being considered as a possible placement for the child.
  - b. The Rehabilitation and Reunification Plan must include any use of kinship support including but not limited to, placement, supervision of visitation, in-home support or respite care.
  - c. In a residential placement of a child, the Department shall consider giving preference to an adult relative over a non-related caregiver when determining placement for a child, as long as the related caregiver meets all relevant state child protection standards.
  - d. All of the above

4. The Practice Model states that Kin are primarily to be considered for:
  - a. Advocating at court for the child's needs
  - b. Placement and/or preserving family connections for the child/ren
  - c. Respite for foster parents
  - d. Keeping track of family history for the child

5. What is required by the Federal Child and Family Services Review, in terms of exploration of relatives?

- a. Children have permanency and stability in their living situations.
- b. The continuity of family relationships and connections is preserved for families.
- c. a and b
- d. None of the above

6. The statute regarding Confidentiality mandates OCFS to:

- a. Keep information about the child and family confidential from relatives or other person whom the department is investigating for possible custody or placement of the child.
- b. Consider providing information about the child and family to a relative or other person whom the department is investigating for possible custody or placement of the child under Optional Disclosure.
- c. Consult with the Attorney General's office for joint decisions about the content and nature of information to be shared with a relative or other person whom the department is investigating for possible custody or placement of the child.
- d. Disclose relevant information in the record to a relative or other person whom the department is investigating for possible custody or placement of the child.